PRIVATIZATION AFFECTS YOU!

Privatization affects our patients. Food service quality, protection services, and patient care are at risk under private delivery.

Privatization affects our workplaces. Maintenance and janitorial standards, hygiene, staff security, even payroll accuracy can become problems under private companies.

Privatization affects your job. You could be in the position of reapplying for your same job with a private company, for less pay.

Privatization affects our communities. When staff is reduced, and jobs outsourced to lower paying private companies, our communities suffer. Less money is spent in our communities, and families may need to move to other cities or provinces to find work.

PRIVATIZATION: WHAT CAN YOU DO?

Wear blue on Thursdays. It's that simple, AUPE members province wide are "feeling blue" every Thursday to show they are against government cutbacks and privatization.

Engage your community – information pickets, health care meetings, and hospital rallies are all important places to show the public you care about the services provided in health care.

Report it before it's too late. If you see signs of privatization on the job, let AUPE know by contacting your representative.
